

JoAnn Culbert-Koehn, L.C.S.W.
1644 Wellesley Drive • Santa Monica, CA 90405

310.450.9369
culbertkoehn@gmail.com
www.culbertkoehn.com

JoAnn Culbert-Koehn is a Jungian psychoanalyst in private practice with adults, adolescents, and children. She has been in private practice for over 40 years; her current office is in Santa Monica, California. She is the current and past president of the C. G. Jung Institute of Los Angeles, where she also served as director of training and co-director of the Hilde Kirsch Children's Center. She served as a board member of the Frances Tustin Memorial Trust as well as on the executive committee of the International Association of Analytical Psychology. She has published widely and lectures and supervises in the United States and internationally. In 2006, JoAnn received the Distinguished Educator Award from the International Federation for Psychoanalytic Education. JoAnn has worked for over two decades integrating the work of C.G. Jung with the work of Klein and Bion. She served for many years on the editorial board of the Journal of Analytical Psychology.